SCRAP THE DEBT END THE HUNGER

"Must we starve our children to pay our debts."

JULIUS NYERERE
President of Tanzania.

AS FAMINE sweeps across many nations in Africa and Asia, and rampant inflation causes hundreds of thousands to starve and go homeless in Central and South America, millions of pounds will be donated to charities in an attempt to stem the tide of suffering.

A small amount of money and goods is also likely to be donated by the government this year when they are pressurized into doing so.

But Western governments could help to end the suffering at a stroke - if they wanted to!

Developing nations paid their richer creditors a record $50.1 billion last year as interest and capital repayments outstripped new loans. And the financial sharks, not content with squeezing countries for fraudulently created sums of money have now started to take over the natural resources and industries of these countries as debt repayment.

This means that developing countries will forever stay in debt and under the control of internationalist bodies like the World Bank.

But while much Third World debt is owed to the banks, Western governments have not been slow in trying to grab a piece of the new imperialism - debt finance.

If Thatcher and other Western government leaders really cared about the starving millions in the world, they would cancel the deadly debts that they have helped to create in developing nations.

The National Front demand that Thatcher lets the poor nations feed themselves.

SCRAP THE DEBT - END THE HUNGER!

WHERE WE STAND

LIBERTE NATIONALE

La Grande Bretagne est une famille de nations - England, Wales, Scotland, Kernow, Mannin, Eire and Ulster - liees par le sang et l'histoire. Les populations de toutes nations ont un droit inalienable a l'autodetermination et a la preservation de leurs cultures et traditions. Nous esperons le jour ou l'Eire rejoindra volontairement la future famille federale de nations britanniques.

SEPARATION RACIALE

La race est le principal facteur qui determine une nationalite. Les societes formees de differentes races ne peuvent pas constituer une nation et sont, par consequent, instables.

Aucune race n'est "superieure" aux autres, mais elles sont toutes differentes. L'integration raciale detruit toutes les races. A notre avis repatriation humaine s'avereiait plus positive que la repression et la violence raciale.

JUSTICE SOCIALE

La nation est une grande famille. Chaque membre de notre famille nationale a un droit de regard indiscutable sur l'expansion de la nation, qu'il soit jeune, malade, ou age. L'egalite des occasions doit etre acquise pour tous, sans aucune privilege pour qui que ce soit.

UNE BONNE REPARTION DES BIENS

Tout notre peuple a le droit de pouvoir posseder son propre logement et une affaire. La possession directe des moyens de production et de distribution est essentielle pour la liberte individuelle, pour la stabilite de la famille, et pour une utilization optimale de nos ressources naturelles.

DES FINANCES SAINES

Le peuple doit posseder lui meme le droit, necessaire a l'economie, de faire credit. Il faut priver les banques, qui ont usurpe ce droit, de leurs gains injustifies, et de leur pouvoir. La dette nationale est basee sur l'usurie et doit etre supprimee.

RESPECT DE LA NATURE

Nous sommes responsables moralement de l'environment pour les generations futures. La pollution de la terre, de la mer est de l'atmosphere, et les degats causes par les radiations a la base genetique de la race sont une trahison a ce devoir moral.

La representation parlementaire est un imposteur. La regle des partis favorise la dictature d'interets personnels et des patrons de la presse. Le gouvernement doit etre mis entre les mains du peuple lui meme, au moyen d'une nouvelle technologie de l'information, et de l'election de delegues qui presenteraient ses revendications. Le pouvoir doit etre ramene a un degre le plus bas possible.

UN PEUPLE ARME

La liberte apportee par ces principes doit etre defendue au moyen d'une neutralite armee, avec des forces defensives nationales bien equipees, constituees par toute la population adulte - Pouvoir, Richesse et Armes entre les mains du peuple!

UNE REVOLUTION, PAS UNE REFORME

Ces changements ne peuvent pas avoir lieu si on essaie d'adapter le Systeme en place, ou de dependre des institutions telles que le parlement, l'ecole ou les tribunals. Ils ne peuvent naitre que d'une Revolution Nationale. Cette revolution doit prendre sa source dans le coeur des individus, et s'etendre grace a leur exemple jusqu'a amener les communautes aux structures revolutionnaire par exemple des conseils et des ecoles differentes, des patroiulles effectuees par le voisinage et des groupes d'auto defence. Une fois que nous ne dependons plus de ces institutions du viel etat, il sera balaye!

LA TROISIEME VOIE

L'expansion de ces idees dans de plus en plus de nations montre qu'une nouvelle force s'eleve dans le monde pour le 21 ieme siecle. Laissant deviene elle les concepts steriles de Capitalisme, Nazisme et Communisme, cette Troisieme Voie offre un reel avenir a nos populations. Nous enjoignions a tous ceux qui agreent a ces principes de rallier a nous pour construire le National Front - Le Mouvement de l'Avenir.

DEFENCE IN DANGER

THE United Kingdom's capacity to defend itself has been reduced still further by two recent revelations: a loss of jobs at Devonport Dockyard and an exodus of officers from the Army.

A thousand more jobs are to go at one of Britain's last remaining Dockyards in Plymouth; since Devonport Management were given the task of running the yard in 1987 by the Ministry of Defence 4,800 places will have disappeard The reason is a reduction in work for the M.O.D. Yet again profit is more important for the Conservative government than defending our British family of nations.

The Army meanwhile is under-manned by over 4,000 as the total number of trained and experienced officers attempting to get out before their contracts run out, rises from 638 last year to 750 for this year. Many of these men will be hard to replace despite a £5 million increase in recruitment advertising. The 2nd Battalion, the Queen's Regiment has even disbanded one company to ease the problem of numbers for remaining battalions in the same regiment.

One thing is clear: the Tories are unwilling or unable to defend our homeland; only a nationalist government can secure our defences by attracting a well-trained officer and professional corps backed up by by a citizens' defence militia involving the entire adult population.

TOMORROW THE WORLD?

Not content with implementing the discredited 19th Century doctrine of free trade in our own family of nations, Mrs. Thatcher has recently flown to Japan to insist that they abandon their policy of selective import control.

Speaking at a meeting of the UK-Japan Society the rusty Iron Lady actually boasted about the free trade policies that have thrown thousands of workers on the dole and wiped out large sections of our own industry. These, say the PM, are the concepts Japan should (must!) emulate.

Yet again the Conservative government flies in the fact of reality: Japan's success partly stems from a policy of excluding foreign goods and keeping to self-sufficiency where-ever possible; and all without the use of cheap immigrant labour. Tough anti-immigration laws keep it that way. But don't get too excited though, Japan just uses cheap home-grown labour!

Ownership of industry, land and housing in Japan is in the hands of a tiny but powerful clique, to the detriment of the toiling masses. Japanese wage slaves need to fight for the restoration of property.

But at least Japan has shown that selective import controls are necessary to help protect her national sovereignty. So should we.

OUT OF CONTROL

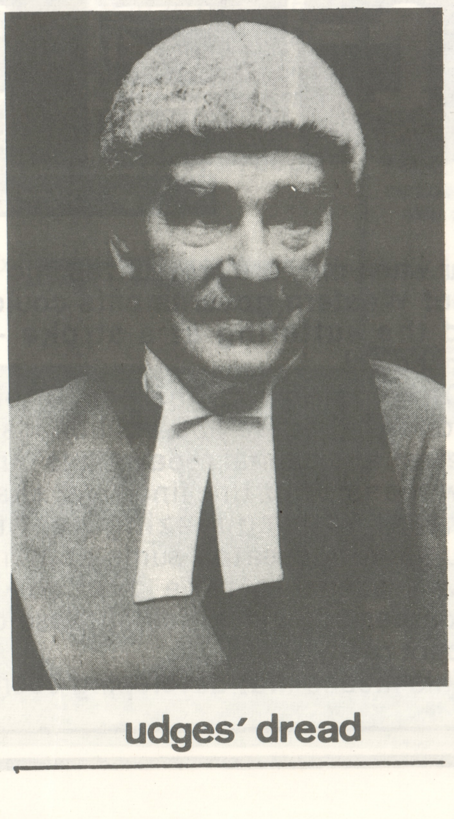
RECENT months have witnessed a concerted effort by Britain's political establishment to convince an increasingly panicky public that the crime wave is under control and that only violent crime is on the increase. Residents of our big towns and cities, however, know better.

"All the signs are that a drop in burgularies reported to the police is not something to celebrate. It does not automatically mean fewer burgularies" says Prof. Jock Young.

What actually happens is that people come to realise that the police will not even bother to investigate many so-called minor crimes where they do not have an immediate lead. And so they do not bother to report such crime in the first place. Hence the incidence of reported crime is reduced, while the all too real crime wave continues apace.

City dwellers are obviously tempted to adopt an attitude of dismayed apathy, but if they need a glimpse of where that will lead, just let them take a look at America's cities:

2,000 murders a year in New York City, school pupils arrested for possessing hadndguns, teachers arrested for selling crack, a school board exposed for selling the furniture to buy drugs.



udges' dread

Is this a sneak preview of Britain's urban future? It may well be if we continue to leave our problems to the police and politicians. The police simply cannot be relied upon - they are more interested in controlling radical political dissent and racial conflict than in serving their local communities. The politicians largely created the culture of greed and social division that allows crime to breed, and cannot advocate real solutions, for they would destroy their own power in the process.

Concerned citizens must act now to protect their communites from the ravages of crime. They must agitate for the dismissal of magistrates and their complete replacement by trial by jury courts, made up from local citizens who also impose the appropriate punishment upon criminals.

They must establish networks of Community Constables drawn from the area they patrol, and responsible to a delegated Community Council. The liberal inspired crime wave can only be properly combatted by the politics of the new wave.

PAINTING THE TOWN

MANCHESTER, that city renowned for its rainy climate, and for spawning that great 'British achievement' the industrial revolution, is going to be tidied up; a host of concerned people, it would seem, are putting all their efforts into making grimey Manchester a clean and tidy place to live. Local Mancunians will no doubt be delighted, but alas this isn't for their benefit, but for the 'Olympic Commitee' who will soon be casting their critical eyes over the Northern metropolis to see if it might be host to a future games.

And so desperate are the 'business' interests thereabouts to secure this big fat juicy media extravaganza, with its countless opportunities for 'bleeding-the-tourists-dry', that come the Olympic officials' visit, they will be recruiting volunteers from the general public to go and pick up litter to give a 'good impression'.

Well, if you've seen the mess left behind after an even minor football match, you can imagine what several hundred thousand tourists eating 'Big Macs' and swilling cans of Coca Cola will leave Manchester looking like. And you can bet your copy of NFN that the ordinary citizen of Manchester isn't going to get much benefit from the Olympic Games: not being able to move in their own city for a month while the 'tourists' take over; having their estate knocked down to make way for a rifle range; and of course the 'absolute delight' of having fish and chip papers festooning your front garden.

But of course the Olympics will be welcomed with open arms to Manchester by the 'fat wallets' who reside well on the outskirts of Manchester in places like leafy Knutsford or tranquil Wilmslow, for whom the Olympics represent the age of traditional values of competition, award for physical merit, and lots of easy cash.....

DISCLAIMER

THE National Directorate of the National Front wishes to make it clear that the Flag and Vanguard are not National Front publications. They do not reflect NF policy or strategy and do not speak for the National Front.

They are produced by a small clique of reactionaries, thieves and drunks, expelled from the NF in 1986. Officials are reminded that both publications and their editors are proscribed. Members of the public are warned that the NF cannot be held responsible for money lost on subscriptions to the Flag and Vanguard when they cease publication.

IN LINE WITH INFLATION!

"THERE is no merit in low pay" was the recent statement by the head of CBI, a group that represents Britain's Bosses. And Britain's Bosses just couldn't agree more:

LORD KING

who is the current chairman of British Airways, gave himself a 116% pay rise. His salary now tops £750,000. He also earns another £390,000 as chairman of engineering group FKI Babcocks.

LORD WEINSTOCK

chief executive of engineering giant GEC got a 26% pay increase. His annual 'reward' is now a mere £296,000.

TINY ROWLAND

is the head of Lonhro. He has just settled for 33% extra in his pay packet. He now gets over £1 Million a year.

SIR EDWARD DU CANN

an ex-Tory Minister and chairman of Lonhro wangled a massive 350% pay rise from £128,000 a year to £409,000.

SIR JOHN NOTT

ex-Tory Defence Minister and now chairman of Lazards bank saw his pay rise to a huge £817,000 a year.

And you can bet your copy of NFN that not one of them has ever broken sweat over their labours.

The hypocrisy of Thatcher in telling workers that they are pricing themselves out of a job, while leeches like these can draw massive salaries out of the profits created by the workforce in the first place, is truly sickening.

How dare Thatcher tell British workers that they must only except pay rises that are in line with inflation! A meagre 7% if they're lucky, and 7% of £80.00 for workers in the North is a grotesque insult, whilst the bosses award themselves huge pay rises.

BEWARE OF THE DOG?

IT seems it is now safe to keep a dog again! Canine attacks have now ceased! At least if you study the media the state of vicious attacks by dogs, particularly on children, no longer occur. Obviously it was simply a short lived spate of copy-cat (?) attacks brought on by some mass hysteria amongst dogs!

More seriously, the short lived sensationalist attention to aggresive behaviour by dogs typifies the media attitude. In order for them to make money, people have to be frightened and misled. And when the issue is deemed to have run out of steam it is dropped. Any real problem within society that they happen to touch upon isn't solved but it appears to have disappeared because of the actions of a minority of self appointed opinion makers.

The dog attack issue highlights a fundamental failure of today. That is to reject the laws governing nature. Man's supposed best friend has in some cases become an irrational psycopath threatening the household. Neither image is absolutely true.

Dogs have become the most successfully domesticated animal and have possibly benefitted from it as much as man. But this success is due to their natural behaviour and instinct. They are social animals and when domesticated find humans replacing the role of the pack leader. However they also instinctively resent rivals and this is how young children often appear.

Commonsense should tell parents to be wary of leaving young children with any dog and not to buy as pets dogs that have been trained to work, such as guard dogs.

Of course this requires a willingness to recognise the rules that nature imposes. And our society is sick for the very reason that this is not accepted in so many ways today.

THE FLAMES OF FREEDOM WILLCLEANSE

BARA CEIRCH, a wildlife haven high in the Cambrian mountains of Wales, is under threat from a huge forestry scheme.

Coniferous forestry plantations have already wrecked the moorland and mountain environment of much of rural Wales. The imported conifers look hideous and destroy the habitat of rare creatures such as the majestic red kite. The forestry employs even fewer people than the old sheep walks did. thus contributing to continued rural decline and the death of the Welsh language.

Environmentalists are most worried by the fact that the conifers release large amounts of acidity into the soil and water. The proposed development at Bara Ceirch will lead to acidification which will wipe out all life in the upper reaches of the River Copthi within ten years.

The Carmarthenshire Fisheries Association, Welsh Water, the Nature Conservancy Council and the Campaign for the Protection of Rural Wales have all joined local residents in opposing the scheme.

But in spite of this the company concerned, Fountain Forestry of Hay-On-Wye have already planted 50 hectares of sitka spruce and obtained permission to plant a further 100 hectares with the help of Forestry Commision grants.

The last budget removed the tax loophole which was making such forestry developments so attractive to rich hypocrites like Terry Wogan. But the government promptly gave back the incentive to destroy our last open uplands by increasing forestry planting grants.

FAITH

Faced with support for environmental destruction from all levels of the system, opponents of the conifer plague are now losing faith in constitutional remedies.

Some are said to be pondering the fact that if the central growing tip of a young conifer is broken off, it will never grow into a harvestable tree. Others are looking with growing sympathy to the example of the Palestinian intifada - dropping lightened matches in the forests planted by foreigners on their ancestral land!

If such regrettable actions start to occur, the responsibility must lie squarely with groups like Fountain Forestry who put short-term profit before the interests of the environment and the Welsh nation.

WALES IS NOT FOR SALE

THIRD POSITIONISTS have long known that there is one rule for the members of the Establishment and another for the rest of us.

For many years farmers in West Wales have been campaigning for repairs to rural roads, often for safety reasons. A wait of six months or more is common before any kind of action is taken.

Now take the case of John Wakeham, Secretary of State for Energy, who owns various Welsh properties including a farm house in Peniel, near Carmarthen. He arose one recent Sunday morning to find the words "Siawans diwedda chi" (this is your last chance) and "Cymru dim ar werth" (Wales is not for sale) daubed on an approach road in large red capitals.

While these words may be considered embarrasing outside the second home of a cabinet minister, they surely could not be thought to represent an emergency of some kind. Or could they? Dyfed county council dispatched a team of emergency workers that very afternoon, who not content to merely remove the slogans, totally resurfaced a 30 yard stretch of the c-class road.

So the red face of a Tory rising star is of more importance to the confused councillors than the safety of local residents. Not surprising given the record of councils throughout the British Isles, who have looked on as the painful wedge of social division and cultural destruction has been driven into the flesh of our nations.

Just another illustration of the need for delegated Community Councils. Only by the process of Popular Rule can people and communities get what they need in order to prosper . Only when we have direct control of the political and economic factors affecting our own communities will houses be returned to those who need and deserve them, and roads be made fit to travel on if necessary.

YTS: ONE DEATH EVERY SIX WEEKS

SINCE the Youth Training Scheme was established by the Conservative governement in 1984 an increasing number of youngsters have been maimed, burned, crushed and killed; the mortality rate is one death every six weeks.

The statistics are frightening: the accident rate for those on YTS is one and a half times greater than for a normal factory worker, and such 'trainees' are twice as likely to receive severe injuries or even die as the average mechanical engineer. And the situation is getting worse. In the first four months of 1987 the accident level was 87 for every 100,000 on YTS, yet for the comparable months of 1989 it had increased to 150.2.

The burns, crippled limbs, poisonings and deaths are the result of totaly inadequate supervision and training, expecially in health and safety by a large number of employers. As one victim of YTS said: "It's the way the whole of YTS is run." Investigations have revealed companies breaking the law. by using defective machinery, with no safety equipment and often with no insurance cover or even an accident book. Unsurprisingly, the Tories appear uninterested in the fatal aspects of their scheme; the Department of Employement's Training Agency visits only 0.15 per cent of work sites a year. Needless to say this is next to useless.

Third Positionists must constantly expose the iniquities of both capitalism and communism; we must demand Social Justice.

RAY HILL, the former (?) Nazi BNP speaker who turned Searchlight informer gave an interview to the Northern Echo, published on 28th September.

Apart from confirming that he is paid for "writing a regular column for Searchlight", Hill tells of a startling new political technique.

Hill claims that he "goes to football matches to meet them [fascists] on their own territory and explain the evils of fascism."

"Perhaps our comrades from Ulster could apply this technique by going to watch Celtic and explaining the evils of republicanism to their fans.

If pigs could fly Ray Hill could squeal as he soared through the clouds!

THE FLAG Social Club didn't have much of a holiday this year according to the October edition of their rag.

Their trip "to Ibiza took place during the first week in September and coincided with the islands highest rainfall in 20 years. Thunder storms and upset stomachs were the order of the day".

Considering that the Flag social club conned them into forking out over three times the odds for their trip we're not surprised.

REX Shepherdson, JP, and chairman of Oldham Conservative Association, is due in court again this month. Only this time it's on the other side of the dock! The 60 year old company director, who has been a magistrate for 14 years, is up on charges of attempting to pervert the course of justice.

THE CON PARTY, those people who stand for law and order and "take the high moral ground", are really having a hard time of it due to the antics of their ilk in the Manchester area.

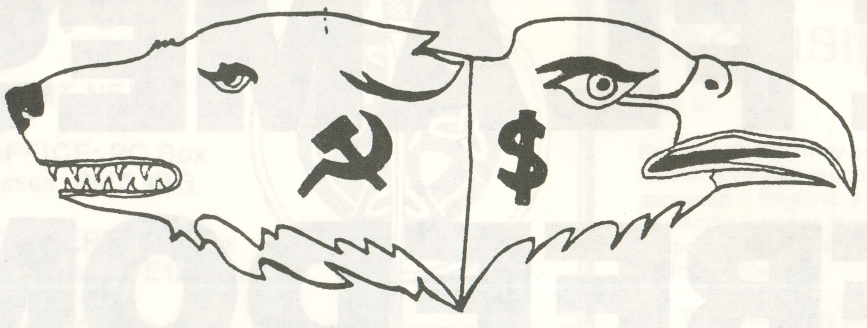
Gerry Carey is another Manchester Tory. This one holds the distinction of being thrown out of his local Tory group for being "too right-wing" and for criticising dear Maggie for being too soft!!! He now goes under the guise of "Independent Tory".

Well it now seems that Mr. Carey is not as independent as he'd like us all to think: it appears that he's under investigation by the DHSS.

They have reason to believe that Carey has been signing on whilst working - driving a taxi in North Manchester to be precise. Maybe the benefit cuts that the Tories introduced last April were finally too much for this paragon of virtue.

The DHSS caught on to him after a local Tory businessman gave Carey a job to help him pay off rent arrears. Carey, after falling down a hole whilst labouring, is now trying to sue his friend for industrial negligence. The day after his terrible accident he was seen driving his taxi. We love it.....

WORLD AFFAIRS, ANALYSIS & COMMENT



THE FALL OF AN EVIL EMPIRE OR THE GLOBAL STING?

THE SECOND PART OF A SPECIAL FEATURE

THE SOVIET UNION is on the brink of collapse! Fifty years after the start of the war which brought the brutal Red Army to the heartland of Europe, the whole Communist empire is tottering to its doom. Every day brings news of worsening problems in one part or another of the spawling tyranny. Unless there is a Chinese-style hardline reaction, Gorbachev's liberalisation looks likely to destroy Marxist rule throughout the Eastern Bloc. As this brief glance at events in the captive nations over the last few weeks shows, Eastern Europe is being shaken by a series of political earthquakes.

EAST GERMANY

THE Marxist regime which was reinstalled in 1953 when Soviet tanks crushed an uprising of workers and students, is now led by old men quite unable to adapt to the demands of glasnost. They have repressed calls for German freedom and European peace, which are mainly heard from young people and the Lutheran church. But they have been unable to stop tens of thousands of the best qualified and most skilled East Germans from travelling to Hungary and then slipping across the border into Austria and West Germany.

If this exodus continues for many more weeks, the effect on the stagnant East German economy will be catastrophic, which will breed even more discontent. But if action is taken to halt it, the result will be a build up of tension and resentment which is bound to lead to pressure for rapid political change. Either way, the old regime is heading for the rocks. Soviet intelligence is said to fear that the country cound be gripped by massive anti-government demonstrations by the spring.

With the exception of the reactionary right-wing Republicans, the vast majority of West Germans have welcomed their fellow-countrymen. The weakening Russian grip in central Europe means that the reunification of Germany is now only a matter of time. When that happens, the domination of our continent by alien Super Powers will be ended overnight. The last enemy within our borders will be European capitalism.

POLAND

Men thrown into prison by the Red puppet government only a few years ago have now formed the first non-Communist government in Eastern Europe since 1948. The Communist Party has held on to many important positions, including the military and the police. Many grass roots Solidarity activists and ordinary Poles believe that their leaders have sold out or worked for the Communists in the first place, others think that peaceful change will continue until a total break with the old tyrants can take place successfully.

Western banks and governments are particularly active to ensure that the newly emerging system is tied to the international financial system right from the start, but unless the new coalition can get the economy running again soon, the chances are that Poland will see an explosion of popular anger which could bring a more genuinely nationalist solution to the fore.

HUNGARY

Hungarian anti-Communism and patriotism seemed crushed after Soviet tanks butchered thousands to end the 1956 revolution. But it now looks as though the Hungarians are about to vote the Marxists out of power. The true facts about 1956 have been acknowledged by the regime which was imposed on the country at gunpoint. And official Hungarian visitors to the West have predicted the end of the Warsaw Pact - the Russian dominated mirror-image of the Yanks NATO occupation trick.

RUMANIA

For years the most repressive state in the Soviet bloc, even the Rumanian government is now under open attack Earlier this year, several formerly high-ranking Communists published an open letter condemning the Red President Ceausescu as corrupt and incompetent. This is cetainly true - the only thing he has proved good at is creating highly paid posts for all his family and relatives. But the surprising thing was that this was now being said openly, and that the people saying it did not promptly disappear.

Now, a well-researched and influential attack on the corruption has come from a new opposition group, the Front for National Salvation. It urges the ruling party to ditch Ceausescu at its congress in November, criticising in particular the "disgusting and noxious personality cult" which has developed around him.

"Ceausescu's ousting is perhaps the only way to avoid major social conflict and bloodshed", the appeal said. Rumania is on the brink of ruin because "all economic life is crippled by opportunism and incompetence, as manifested in the economic policy of Ceausescu and his family."

East German refugees pose for the Western cameras with jeans and Coca Cola. An exchange of brutal tyranny for subtle slavery.

UKRAINE

The people of this huge area of the south east of the USSR will never forget that Soviet rule under Stalin meant a deliberately engineered famine which led to millions starving to death. Up until now, the 50 million Ukrainians have watched the disintegration of their oppressor with quiet excitement. But now events in other countries are leading to an upsurge in open Ukrainian nationalist sentiment. An explosion here could only be controlled if a large proportion of the Red Army was moved in - leaving many of the smaller nations in the empire to seize control of their own destinies.

BALTIC STATES

Three such nations are long-suffering Estonia, Lithuania and Latvia. These were cynically handed over to Stalin by Hitler and have been the victims of systematic attempted genocide. Up to a third of their populations were shot or deported and worked to death in slave labour camps. Then huge numbers of Russian immigrants were brought in to take their place. The presence of 600,000 Russians in tiny Estonia alone means that her people are in the minority in many parts of their own country.

Yet in spite of this, the fiftieth anniversary of Red tyranny was marked by huge nationalist demonstrations. The three local parliaments have declared economic independence from the USSR and the Popular Front oppositions are calling for a total political break as well.

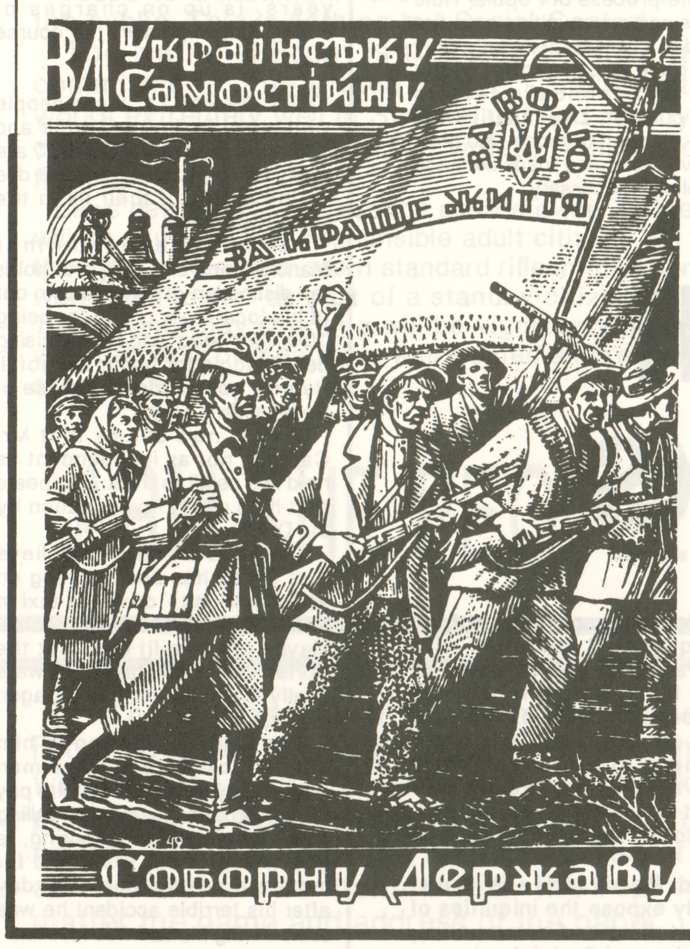
Nationalist demands for freedom are being linked with protests at the terrifying levels of pollution from Soviet-run industry. This has given Estonia the highest rate of lung cancers and double the premature birth rate of the whole Soviet Union. Four power stations near the city of Narva emitt 380,000 tons of sulpher dioxide and 200,000 tons of toxic ash each year. Baltic beaches have been closed by the discovery of a four metre thick layer of hydrogen sulphide on the sea bed. The Latvian capital of Riga doesn't even have a sewage works.

The symbol of it all is the evacuation of 300 children from the military town of Sillamaa, after they all went bald. The cause was found to be the uranium waste dump, covered with just a thin layer of sand, on which their kindergartens had been built.

The pressure for revolutionary change is so great that the local Communist Party is trying to split away from Moscow in order to rebuild some sort of credibility with its own people.

ARMENIA

Clashes between Armenians and Azerbaijanis threaten to escalate into full scale communal war. Both sides have carried out massacres and thousands have fled from their homes. The latest blow to the authorities was the lynching of two armed policemen by a crowd of Azerbaijanis. It is clearly impossible to get the two different ethnic and religious groups to live together peacefully. But in spite of this, Moscow is still insisting on the maintainance of a centrally ruled multi-racial state, rather than redrawing the border, compensating minorities who have to be moved and then giving both nations independence.



SOVIET TANKS AND NEW UNHAPPY LORDS

THIRD POSITIONISTS everywhere welcome the apparent collapse of Soviet tyranny and the sight of long-supressed nations demanding their freedom. The leaders of the Capitalist West have also demanded this for many years. But now that it could become a reality they have changed their minds. The talk in the boardrooms, parliament and the high-brow press is no longer about the "Communist threat", but about the threat posed by the collapse of Communism.

The masters of the West are now openly saying that they would rather deal with the commissars of a "reformed" Soviet Empire than with half a continent of free peoples, each determined to rebuild their own nation and not the profits of Western banks and corporations.

In order to avoid any such outbreak of freedom, financiers and politicians from the whole Western world are now doing everything they can to prop up Gorbachev. For his aim is to modernise the economy and to link it more and more with the West. But he is also determined to maintain the Soviet Empire. So the interests of the Establishments of East and West are moving closer and closer together.

So on the same day that it was announced that the USSR was going to join the International Monetary Fund, Gorbachev called for the banning of "extremist organizations" - clearly referring to the new independent political parties and Popular Fronts in the captive nations.

It looks as though the peoples of Eastern Europe are soon going to learn the hard way that Capitalism is no alternative to Communism, which they have rejected. The only hope is that enough of them realise this to make it impossible for Soviet tanks to impose the wishes of their New Unhappy Lords in Wall Street and the City. And if they do fight, nationalists from the West must fight alongside them. For if Europe has a realistic chance at the present time, it lies in the East.

"For freedom. For a better life. For an Independent Ukrainian state."
About 7.5 million Ukrainians starved to death after Stalin ordered his Soviet authorities to seize the 1932 crop.

THEIR CRISIS OUR OPPORTUNITY!

THE MOVEMENT is set to take the most vital step yet in its programme of struggle and development.

Just over 18 months ago we began to surge into the future by purchasing some of the latest production, communications and security technology available.

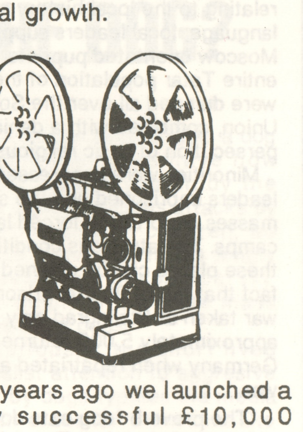
This has already paid enormous dividends to the Movement in terms of organizational and strategical development; some of which is immediately obvious such as the higher standard of production quality in NF News, Nationalism Today and other propaganda and educational material.

And amongst other things our launch into the latest technology has allowed us to further decentralise our operations. It has saved valuable time and effort, allowed comrades to develop new, or further existing areas of struggle and contact. And above all it has laid the seeds for the Movement to undertake some major development.

IRONIC

But ironically, we have reached the stage where we have moved ahead so fast that our development has reached a standstill!

Our production outlets are beginning to amass a backlog of work, much of it vital but all of it important, because they cannot cope with the extra work generated by the Movement's continual growth.



Two years ago we launched a highly successful £10,000 Technology Fund to bring us into the 1980's.

Now we are launching another £10,000 appeal: this time to push the Movement well into the 90's.

In the very first week of the appeal we raised enough money to be able to go ahead and purchase the first item on our shopping list - another laser printer.

This is good, but nowhere near good enough. The SWP recently started a £50,000 fund to revitalise their printing operation. This managed to bring in over £7,000 in its first week.

If deadbeat Marxists can manage to raise that much for a dying creed of hatred, we should be able to close our appeal in record time. So help us turn the into a reality now! Please donate as much as you can to this vital initiative.

All donations will be acknowledged in NFN in the usual way, and readers kept informed of the Fund's progress.

Cheques, postal orders or international money orders should be made payable to 'Technology Fund' and sent to:

The Secretary,
PO Box 57,
Romford, Essex.

The next items on our shopping list are a number of fax and telex facilities and some more computer modems. These will all help to improve and expand our communications network.

For a number of years the Movement has being going through a continual process of developing our ideology in depth. An expanded and updated communications network will allow us to put these ideas into a more practical application than we have been able to so far.

And this, in turn, will help change the level and success of our struggle beyond recognition.

Now is the time for the Movement to advance!

To do this will involve some necessary strategical and organizational changes which will be announced later. But it will also mean that our hard hitting message of National Freedom and Social Justice must reach many more people than it does at present.

So amongst many other things we plan to develop a sophisticated propaganda machine which will help win the national revolution.

The THIRD POSITION is on the march!

GUN LAW ATTACKS OUR INDIVIDUAL AND SOCIAL RIGHTS

THE new firearms act is the latest and most destructive attack on the basic right of citizens to bear arms.

The right to keep arms for self defence and for defence of the realm was clearly recognised during preceding centuries as just in both the individual and social spheres.

Today, only the National Front calls for the re-establishment of the Armed People.

The first destructive legislation appeared in 1920 as a result of the government expecting revolution! Those soldiers who returned from the 'Great' War quickly found they had come home to unemployment, poverty and social misery.

The 1920 Act and subsequent ones were social repression portrayed as 'anti-crime' laws. 1967 was the year for shotgun certificates - imposed after three policemen were shot with pistols!

The 1988 Act was the product of media-inspired hysteria following the Hungerford massacre. Hungerford was the great event the state had been waiting for! These brutal killings provided the excuse to push anti-gun rubbish through a hysterical parliament, ably assisted by an ignorant and venomous press.

No one except the NF dared to point out that if people had been armed Michael Ryan would not have been able to continue on his mad rampage after killing his first victim. He would have been stopped by a bullet and most of his victims would be alive today.

The result of their machinations is that formerly 'trusted' and law abiding citizens have been denied their rights and have been very much restricted in their choice of guns; guns which, legally held, have never been of significance in crime.

These new regulations affect only the law-abiding and, by definition, do not interfere with criminals. It is also quite clear that these laws do not affect the insane either.

LONG TERM STRATEGY

All this legislation would be bad enough if it rested on ignorance and prejudice, but this isn't so. It results from the long term strategy of the Home Office and the associaion of chief police officers (ACPO) to "reduce to a minimum" the amount of arms held by the public. This is nothing but Social Control.

The National Front is the only political group committed to 'The Armed People' - a concept that works extremely well in Switzerland and in Libya - a concept that promotes the widest possession of firearms.

Laws designed to repress the private owner of firearms will be squashed. All responsible adult citizens will have the right to keep a modern standard rifle in their home or workroom locker as part of a standby citizens' militia. Target and Clay shooting will be vigorously promoted, with the view of creating a well trained and responsible shooting public.

QUITE PROMISING

Dear Sir,

Readers of NFN may be interested in a new regionalist group that has appeared in England: the Movement for Middle England. It aims for "a more participatory democracy" and has five basic principles:

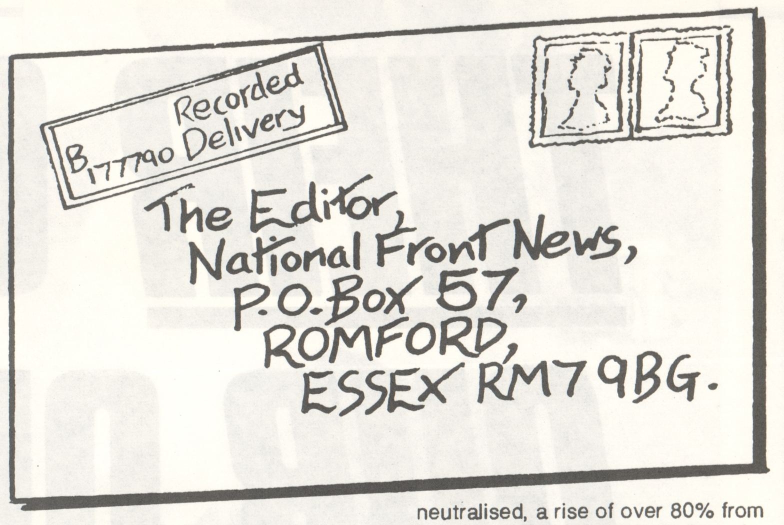
1) To be non-party political.
2) To work for regional autonomy for the Midlands within a devolved UK.
3) To vest power in the smallest possible local unit.
4) To co-operate with, and respect other regions.
5) To establish 'shadow' institutions outside the present political structure, rather than contest elections within it.

All this makes the MfME quite promising. Its emblem is based on the Cross of St. George, with four red arrows pointing towards its centre. In the top left hand corner is the Oak tree to symbolise the stout heart of England (and the three great forests of Sherwood, Charnwood and Arden).

Anyone interested should write for details to: Movement for Middle England, 12 Bartholomew Street, Leicester, LE2 1FA.

Let's federalise!

Yours sincerely,
G.K. Sussex.



HITTING HARD !

Dear Sirs,

I found your feature article carried in issue no. 123 - "Our Answer to IRA Violence" - and the Ulster National Front's new booklet "Alternative Ulster" to be of great interest.

Your readers may be interested to know a few facts and figures about the suffering in Ulster:

There were 236 terrorist explosions Ulster in 1987, 37% more than the previous year.

A further 148 bombs were neutralised, a rise of over 80% from 1986, bringing the total number of incidents avoided since 1970 to 3,919.

And there were 72% more shooting incidents than in 1986, the highest number recorded since 1981.

The total number of deaths connected with terrorist incidents in 1987 was 50% higher than in 1986.

The contempt that the British Establishment hold for the people of Ulster and their suffering can be gauged from the title of the HMSO publication that these statistics are taken from: Social Trends 19.

Perhaps in times to come the stringing up of terrorists and the treacherous politicians who have allowed this suffering to continue will also become a social trend?

Yours, M.E. London.

A NATION UNDER ATTACK

Dear Sirs,

Thank you for the complimentary copy of your paper National Front News that found its way to me. You may be surprised to learn that I have seen several previous issues along with your stimulating magazine Nationalism Today.

Now that the National Front seems to have genuinely adopted a federalist position I think that there is a basis of hope for co-operation between us. I can only speak for myself at this stage but I find your social and economic platform to be of especial interest. It is something of obvious importance and necessity that has not been thought out within the Cornish national movement at the present time.

I would like to offer you a small glimpse of the situation that we are faced with. The Westminster directed attack upon our nation is not one that receives much coverage, especially in England!

Historically, we have suffered much from the Iron Fist of the English establishment. Nowadays, the Iron Fist is still there but concealed in a velvet glove!

Their sneaky ways of divide and conquer are frequently applied, such as bringing into Kernow Welsh police to break up Cornish strikes. This policy was reciprocated during the bitter year-long Coal Miners strike when Cornish police were sent to oppose Welsh miners.

Similar attacks include:

* The placing of a large part of North Kernow under the hated Exeter postcode and the coupling of a large area of SE Kernow with the English city of Plymouth in a further postcode.

* Manipulation of the Cornish Health Service by placing it under the North Devon Health Service. This enables babies born of Cornish parentage to be registered as English.

* The Cornish Constabulary no longer exists. It has become the Devon & Cornwall Constabulary, based and controlled from the English city of Exeter.

* Only constant outcries have prevented the grasping English claws at Plymouth from extending and swallowing up SE Kernow. They will try again and again until successful, and any so-called promise of recognition of Cornish status will be broken or ignored. They will always ensure that they have a majority and what rights, few as they are, will be no more.

* Virtually all of our local press is now in the hands of English Press Barons, and papers refuse to take entries recording births etc written in Cornish.

* The so-called Cornish magazines give priority and pander to their English friends and second home owners.

* Estate agents, banks and building society publications often devote articles towards potential second home buyers, and Kernow is always listed as one of the best areas to secure.

* Economically, we have always sought help from Westminster for the Tin Mining industry. One good look around Kernow shows how much help they would give, or have given in the past 100 years. There are dozens of derelict monuments of our tin industry to prove the point! The day the English plutocrats discovered that Malayan natives could silt tin for two and a half pence a day they closed the Cornish tin industry rather than pay our miners their £2.50 a week. This was done regardless of how the miners and their families suffered, or whether or not they starved or had to emigrate. The descendants of our main industrial workers can now be found in small communities in South Africa, USA, Australia and many other countries.

* Even the fishing industry has been decimated. The large fleets of fishing trawlers have rapidly declined, having been replaced by the larger English trawlers who, with their modern methods, have greedily made their own waters barren and have virtually extinguished the mackerel abundance of our coast.

Earlier history has shown us the Iron Fist of English colonial rule. After the Flamank-AN Gof revolt against the terrible conditions enforced upon our people, the English rulers perpetrated a system of hanging, burning of homesteads and general persecution that equalled, in comparison, the butchery created by Cromwellian forces in Eire.

The teaching of our language was banned, a translation of the Bible into Cornish refused, only imported English priests and Bishops were recognised, Common Land and whole villages were given over to the English Manorships, to Royal Illegitimates and favourites of the usurped Crown and parliament that had committed murder or worse for their corrupt paymasters. And to cap it all, the farce of the Prince of Wales was again utilised for an Establishment mask. Only this time it read "Duke of Cornwall".

The struggle will be long and hard, but we are determined that it will be successful.

Sincerely yours,
R.T., Mawgan, Kernow.

GENOCIDE

Dear Sir,

I found your recent coverage of the attempted genocide suffered by the Indian nations throughout the Americas of great interest.

That great democracy, the USA, has been very proficient in the art and practise of genocide with the mass extermination of the original inhabitants, the numerous Red Indian tribes, utilising the theft of land, transportation of entire tribes to inhospitable regions, war, alcohol, starvation, and the introduction of diseases unknown to the native populations, achieving total decimation of Indian life and culture.

An alternative to the world's ills was offered in the form of the Bible of Karl Marx. Basically this taught us that evolution would inevitably bring us Communism through the advance of Feudalism - Capitalism - it's extreme form, Imperialism - and then Communism. Developed states such as England, USA, France, Germany would reach Communism first, whereas Russia and Feudal countries would be the last to reach the exotic perfection dreamt up by Marx. Something went wrong somewhere because Tsarist Russia and feudal China were the first states to fall to the Marxist Beast. We cannot include most Warsaw Pact States as they were processed by Red Army bayonets and tanks.

The Marxist State in practise is even more insidious and aggressive in the pursuit of genocide. Whole nations and tribal populations have been split up and transported in the most adverse weather conditions to Siberia and other barren and desolate steppe areas without the provision of food, clothing or housing.

The very thinly disguised mockery of national identity under Soviet rule was cruelly exposed. National Republics were suppressed or indiscriminately amalgamated, suppression of newspapers in the local language, purging of libraries of books relating to the local history or language, local leaders supplanted by Moscow orientated puppets. The entire Tatar population of the Crimea were dumped all over the Soviet Union, combined with a denial and persecution of basic religious rights.

Minorities were suppressed, cultural leaders imprisoned and the starving masses deported to forced labour camps. The atrocious conditions in these places can be gleaned from the fact that out of 90,000 prisoners of war taken at Stalingrad only approximately 5,000 returned to Germany when repatriated after the war.

"The proverb "dog eats dog" is also an apt description of Marxism in practise. An example being that of the original Grand Soviet leadership. All but Lenin and one other were exterminated. The remaining man became the biggest tyrant, murderer and exponent of genocide known to mankind. Marxists always try and argue that it was necessary to stop millions joining the advancing Germans but the policy of mass genocide was applied in full after the fortune of war had changed and the Red Army had reached the German frontier and it carried on until 1954.

Nationalities subject to this genocide, or "Comradely Culture" as it is called in Soviet Russia, includes the following: Crimean Tatars, Chechans, Ingushi, Karachi, Balkars, Abazins, Kalmyks, Volga Germans and White Russians. Any remnants of these flourishing nations were then assimilated by the Georgians and Ukrainians. No trace has been heard of the 200,000 Mesknetians but the general death rate from the genocidal policy applied to these unfortunate nations evened out at 46.3%.

Yours in struggle against Statism and Imperialism.

A.C., London.

SECOND HOMES: THE BURNING QUESTION

THE NATIONAL FRONT is under heavy media attack for our refusal to condemn Meibion Glyndwr (Sons of Glyndwr) - the mysterious direct action group who have claimed responsibility for dozens of arson attacks against second homes in rural Wales.

We do not support the violent and secretive tactics used by Meibion Glyndwr. We have no links with them whatsoever. But neither are we willing to join in the unthinking Establishment chorus of condemnation of patriots driven to desperate measures to defend their nation. The real blame lies elsewhere - and we are quite prepared to say exactly where:

The second homes issue has been a burning grievance in Wales for many years now. With a pathetically low average income of £4,000 per year, local people are unable to compete in the property market with wealthy outsiders - mainly from the big English cities.

In many rural areas in the heart of Welsh-speaking Wales, up to 25% of the housing stock is tied up as holiday homes. This means that young people particularly have no chance of finding a home in their own nation, and so have to move away.

This leads to the closure of schools and recreation facilities. And because the houses are occupied for only a few weeks in each year, shops and public transport services close down through lack of regular use.

This in turn makes it harder for local people to find work and retain interest in the area, so even more move away. As a result, the Welsh identity is being destroyed.

But although this problem has become most prominent in Cymru due to the actions of Meibion Glyndwr, and in previous decades the M.A.C. and the Free Wales Army, it is by no means confined to Wales. In Kernow (Cornwall) there is also a holiday home arson campaign, and other fierce resistance to foreign invasion led mainly by the direct action group, Angof. In Mannin (Isle of Man) too, there have been a growing number of similar attacks and the revival of Fo Halloo - meaning "underground". And even in rural, and the poorer regions of England resistance to the yuppie invasion has become manifest, taking the form of attacking parked cars and other property belonging to the unwelcome newcomers.

So who is to blame?

You can't really blame people who want to get away from the tense, violent and commercialised rat-race of England's multi-racial cities. Brought up without any sense of pride in their own culture and heritage, it is hardly surprising that they do not even see what harm their selfish pleasure does to another nation or age-old community.

Nor can you blame the farmers and other inhabitants of a countryside hit by EEC farming policies and indebtedness to the banks for selling "surplus" houses for the highest prices they can get.

So exactly who is to blame for the crisis which has driven patriots to raise once more the standards of their last great "rebel" leaders and their communities?

WESTMINSTER RULE

Rule from remote, money-grubbing London has hit Wales, Cornwall and the Isle of Man even worse than the outlying regions of England, as badly as Scotland, and almost as badly as Ulster.

Our City masters, State bureaucrats, media manipulators and their party political puppets regard the small farm and village life which is still the norm in rural communities with contempt and total incomprehension.

The rootless and cosmopolitan intelligensia who cling like leeches to the cancerous growths of London and New York have an instinctive loathing for any people who are striving to cling to their ancient culture and minority language. For nations which resist the "values" and chatterings of Hollywood are also likely to impede the development of the highly profitable global "culture" of Coca-cola and blue jeans.

So while the System's puppets at Westminster have made a few "safety valve" concessions such as, for instance, more TV time in Welsh, the overall aim and effect of their rule in Wales is to destroy the last vestiges of national pride, self-sufficiency and identity.

Such things provide banners around which people can rally to defy the creeping power of the centralized state, so such things are anathema to Westminster.

LOCAL COUNCILS

It would be reasonable to expect local councils to be more responsive to the needs of people in their own areas, but this is rarely the case. They are too dominated by petty party political point-scoring and by career-minded little bureaucrats who don't want to rock the boat.

These people have the power to create new small scale housing schemes open to local people only, and at much more realistic prices. Such schemes have been running successfully in a number of villages in English counties such as Wiltshire and Dorset, where the locals have been priced out of the housing market by City yuppies.

If the same thing was done in every rural village and traditional community, the resentment caused by the holiday homes issue would be greatly defused. Every council could do this if the will was there.

But unless the electors make it clear that councillors will not be re-elected unless they take action, laziness and corruption (because building land destined for the open market fetches a higher price) will ensure that nothing is done.

POLITICAL SAFETY VALVES

Political safety-valve "radicals" such as the so-called "Welsh nationalist" party, Plaid Cymru, must bear a greater share of the blame than anyone. Although Plaid's founding principle was that its members should never take up seats at Westminster, the neo-Marxist sellouts who run the party today are all too happy to pick up their inflated salaries and to look important on the opposition bench in the House of Commons.

This act alone has done more than any other to legitimise Westminster rule in the eyes of an ever-growing number of people, and so to prevent an effective national feeling and opposition developing.

Plaid's MP's and councillors have failed to get local councils to provide housing projects as already discussed. And by insisting that everything should be left to them, to the "experts", Plaid have deterred ordinary people from taking part in the mass community action which is needed to defend community spirit, interest and identity today.

Rather than taking effective action on the second homes issue, Plaid have instead attacked others - such as Meibion Glyndwr and the Ffrynt Cenedlaethol Cymru/Wales NF

COMMEMORATIVE RALLY - CYMRU

FfC Cymru/Wales NF recently received a standardized letter calling upon all Welsh patriots to assemble in Caernarfon on 1st July 1989 to commemorate the sentencing of six members of the Free Wales Army and the death of two members of Mudiad Amddiffyn Cymru. The gathering in Caernarfon is to honour the memory of these martyrs and to show that the Welsh will to nationhood is not dead. Whilst we do not agree with their practice of armed struggle, we honour their memory as men who were prepared to do something and die if necessary, rather than let their nation die.

INDEPENDENCE

PRESS INTEREST IN RACE CAMPAIGN

THE MOVEMENT's radical response to the threatened invasion of our islands by Hong Kong Chinese has already stirred up a healthy media interest towards our promotion of a Third Way.

In one of their latest bouts of regular publicity our comrades in Ulster spelt out the Movement's position on the Hong Kong situation, in a large article, to thousands of their countrymen.

"SHORTS factory in Belfast would be ordered to provide arms to overthrow the Communist Government in China if there was an independent Northern Ireland tomorrow" screamed the article.

The newspaper went on to quote a leading Ulster comrade at length:-

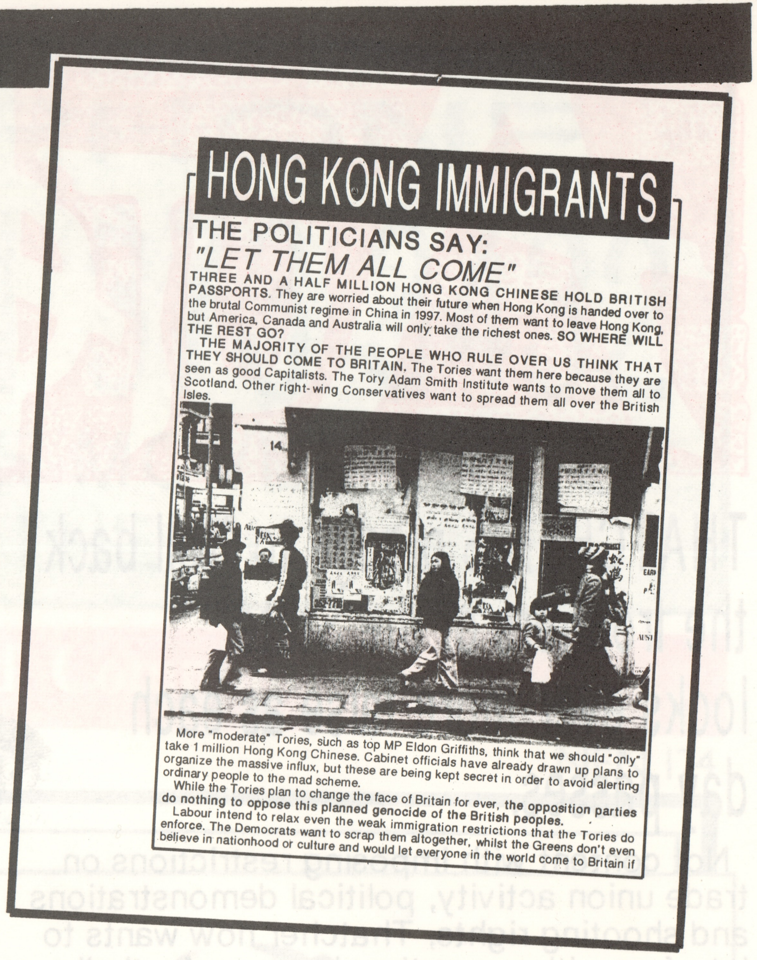
"We can identify in part with the students in Tiananmen Square who want to live in peace and freedom with their people in their own country. When you think back to the protests here following the signing of the Anglo-Irish agreement and how they were put down by the British Government there is a slight similarity." ......

"Three and a half million Hong Kong Chinese hold British passports and certain quarters have suggested that they should settle here. If that happened Ulster would cease to exist in a few short years. Our people would be a diminishing minority in our own motherland." ......

"Of course we would not want them here. They are not European, not like us culturally and would pose a threat. At the same time we would be posing a threat to their own culture. For the maintenance of both races we would support their efforts to remain in their homeland." ......

Elsewhere in the article the paper added that the Ulster NF has "approached a number of Oriental students to get their support", and ended by stating that the Movement sought to agitate for Hong Kong to be handed over to the successors of Sun Yat Sen - the government of the Republic of China in Taiwan.

This just solution to the Hong Kong problem has been advanced by the Movement to the people of Hong Kong and Taiwan, and all of the major newspapers there, including Sing Tas Wan Pao, Tin Tin Yat Pao, Wah Kio Yat Po and the Chien Kuo Daily News have been approached to aid us in the struggle to destroy the Red Beast.



HONG KONG IMMIGRANTS

THE POLITICIANS SAY: "LET THEM ALL COME"

THREE AND A HALF MILLION HONG KONG CHINESE HOLD BRITISH PASSPORTS. They are worried about their future when Hong Kong is handed over to the brutal Communist regime in China in 1997. Most of them want to leave Hong Kong, but America, Canada and Australia will only take the richest ones. SO WHERE WILL THE REST GO?

THE MAJORITY OF THE PEOPLE WHO RULE OVER US THINK THAT THEY SHOULD COME TO BRITAIN. The Tories want them here because they are seen as good Capitalists. The Tory Adam Smith Institute wants to move them all to Scotland. Other right-wing Conservatives want to spread them all over the British Isles.

More "moderate" Tories, such as top MP Eldon Griffiths, think that we should "only" take 1 million Hong Kong Chinese. Cabinet officials have already drawn up plans to organize the massive influx, but these are being kept secret in order to avoid alerting ordinary people to the mad scheme.

While the Tories plan to change the face of Britain for ever, the opposition parties do nothing to oppose this planned genocide of the British peoples.

Labour intend to relax even the weak immigration restrictions that the Tories do enforce. The Democrats want to scrap them altogether, whilst the Greens don't even believe in nationhood or culture and would let everyone in the world come to Britain if

BEATING THE SYSTEM

ACTIVELY SEEKING WORK.....

THE changes ushered in by the new Social Security Act, that came into effect from October 9th, have given many people cause for concern. One of the conditions of the new Act is that in order to continue to receive benefits the unemployed must be able to prove, if asked, that they have been "actively seeking work". This is fair enough in itself but the ambiguity of the conditions have rightly confused many people.

For instance, who is to interpret the phrase "actively seeking work"? For one UBO this may mean applying for a job or two during the week, whilst for another anything less than being employed for 40 hours a week in the search for work may not be good enough to satisfy the conditions.

So for the benefit of our unemployed readers we are offering a standard letter - on the right - that they can copy and present to their local UBO to get our people off to a good start in the search for a reasonable job.

Dear Sir, Madam,

Under the new Social Security Bill 1989, from the 9th October I must prove that I am actively looking for work.

The widespread closure of DHSS offices to the public and the backlog in paying out on claims indicate that there must be a shortage of staff at the DHSS.

Because of my experience of unemployment I believe I am ideally qualified for this work and would like to apply for any vacancy that exists.

So that I can prove to the supervisor at this office that I am looking for work, please acknowledge this application in writing.

Yours sincerely,

POLE-AXING THE POLL TAX...

We have advised readers several times before that the authorities can do nothing to citizens who have not filled in their poll tax registration forms. Unless, that is, they can prove that you've received one. This means that the council will either have to send it by recorded delivery (and you will have had to sign for it for there to be any proof), or they will have to send someone to your home to give a form to you personally.

When this eventually happens to you don't despair! They haven't got you paying their unjust tax yet! There are many reasons that, through no fault of your own, would cause you to delay paying. And here are some of them so be on your guard!

1) Accidents will happen! Your young child might tear it to pieces, your dog might eat it or if you're the clumsy type you might spill coffee over it. There are a thousand things and one of them is likely to happen to your form! Ask them for another form.

2) When they've proved that you've received a replacement you will probably find that the questions are a little confusing. Return the form to them (recorded delivery) and ask them to explain exactly what the question means. When they return the form with the answer to your query you will probably find that the next question is also a little difficult to understand. In fact when we looked at the form at the NFN office we weren't sure about any of the questions!

3) You can send the form back and ask to be known by another name - a maiden name for example - any will do. This is your right. It doesn't have to be changed by deed poll.

4) Some people will find themselves in the lucky position of merely looking after the premises whilst their friend, (who lives there) is doing some errands. If the poll tax collector decides to wait outside for your friend to arrive back home he could be in for a long wait. The roads are terrible nowadays, traffic jams everywhere!

5) It will cause massive headaches if the part of the form saying "For office use only" accidently gets wax over it. Similarly, if the white spaces in the bar code, which is on most forms, get blacked in it will also cause headaches and great delays. So make sure that your young children, or your neighbours', are kept well away from your poll tax registration form!

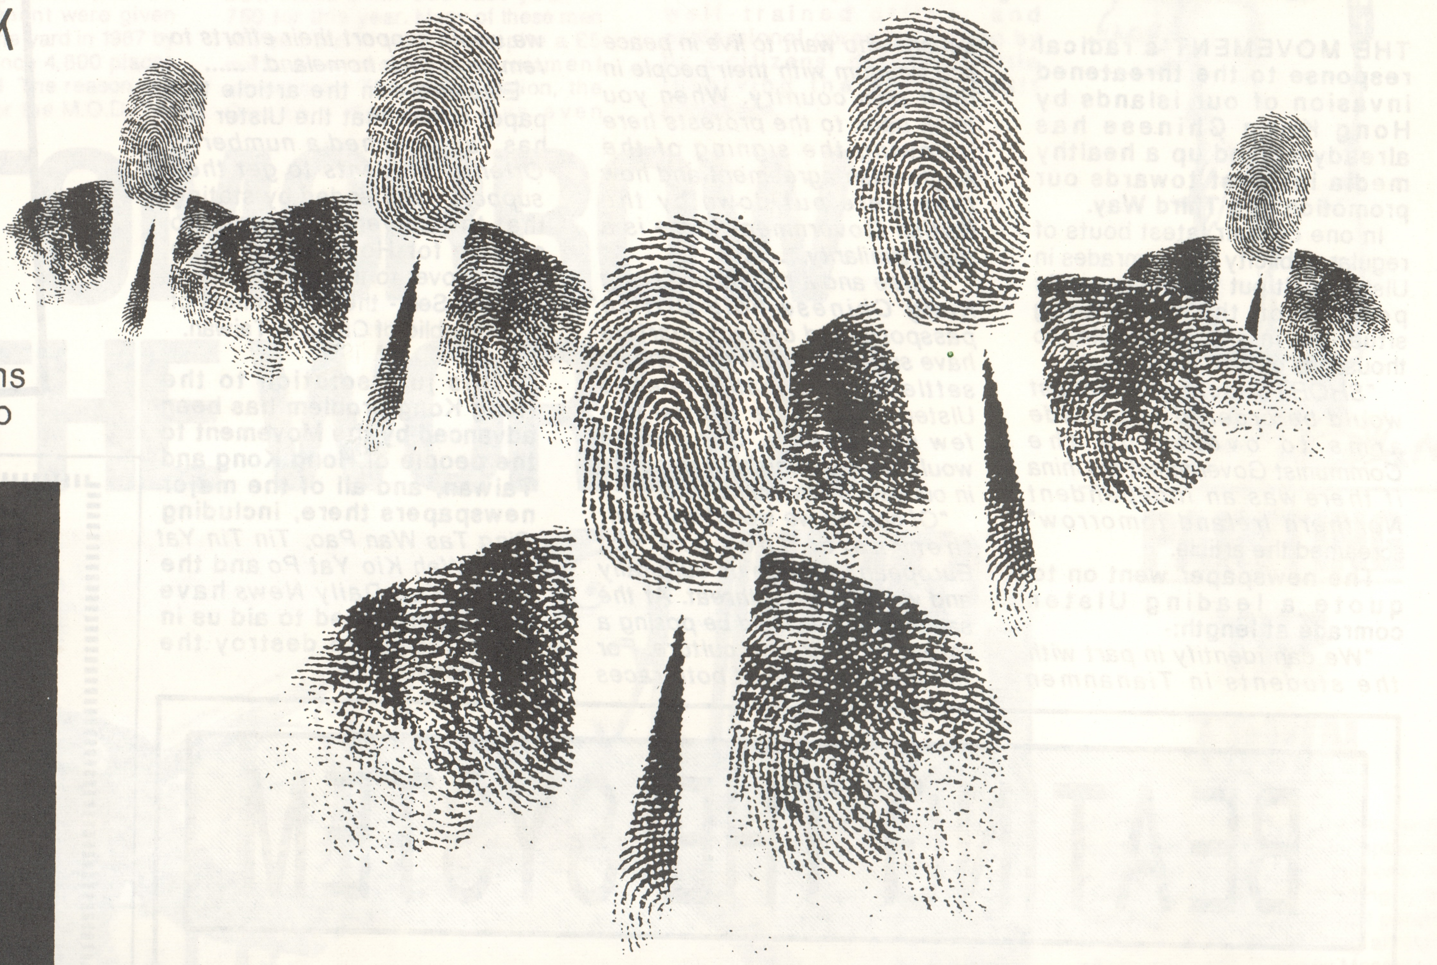
AUTONOMY!

THATCHER'S pledge to "roll back the frontiers of the State" looks ever-more false as each day passes.

Not content with imposing restrictions on trade union activity, political demonstrations and shooting rights, Thatcher now wants to interfere with our national game - football.



NO TO FOOTBALL I.D. CARDS

Thatcher voted in favour of the Football Spectators Bill on its second reading on June 27th.

This is the Bill that will force football fans to carry compulsory identity cards to get into a game.

Fans will be treated like criminal suspects and have their names put on a national computer for the heinous crime of watching live football. And anyone who complains about incompetence on the part of the management or administration of a club is likely to have their card removed in an arbitary fashion.

The Tory media is trying to exaggerate every criminal act before or after a match in order to soften up the public for the introduction of ID cards.

And if the game is played abroad our fans must be blamed for any trouble - as in Sweden. In fact the Swedish police stated:

"After the match English fans were protected by police from Swedish fans who were waiting for them outside. The only trouble inside the Stadium came from Swedish fans."

National statistics show that only 0.3% of the 18 million supporters at football matches were arrested last season, and remember, that's arrested - not charged - not convicted!

ID cards will not do anything to stop the small amount of violence but instead will displace crime to town centres, streets surrounding football grounds and to other spectator sports.

Let Maggie the hypocrite have the last word:-

"As I said in my Bruges speech, we are practical. They have identity cards, but can you imagine compulsory identity cards in this country? We recoil from it."

'My European Nightmare by Maggie' - Daily Mail, 18th May 1989.
